Thursday, June 24 • 5:30 - 7:30 pm • 900 Clark St.

The California Natural Resources Agency awarded $3 million to the City of Riverside to acquire and develop 7.5 acres into an urban greening site and agriculture training center that will include:

- a community garden
- beginner farmer training fields
- demonstration orchards
- a composting area
- two trails that will reduce vehicle-miles traveled and the related pollutants
- 450 trees and shrubs that will capture carbon to help slow climate change.
